

CONTAINED

P R O J E C T

Connecting research, experience and learning on migration

© Ben Johnston

www.facebook.com/containedproject/

A theatrical performance and discussion of the CONTAINED trilogy on migration:

Decisions and Journeys // Arrival and Reception // Movement and Change

8 December 2016, Lady Margaret Hall, Oxford, OX2 6QA
15:45–19:30

15:45 Doors open 16:00 Performances start 17:15 Discussion 18:15 Drinks

We are proud to showcase our CONTAINED trilogy of performances on migration. Our afternoon of entertainment, discussion and reflection on migration in the context of global change will provoke thought and spark discussion on innovative tools to create more empathy for migration and migrants.

Come, be inspired and exchange ideas.

To guarantee your place, RSVP to ingrid.locatelli@qeh.ox.ac.uk by 24 November.

After this date you may still register depending on availability.

CONTAINED Project connects experience, research, and creative learning to create dialogues and understanding about migration. It started as a collaboration between Marie Curie Research Fellow Marieke van Houte of the International Migration Institute at the University of Oxford and Anja Meinhardt of physical theatre company Justice in Motion.

This event is funded by the ESRC Impact Acceleration Account, and by the TRANSMIC Marie Curie Initial Training Network, a project funded by the European Commission's Seventh Framework Programme. Marieke's research within TRANSMIC on the relationship between migration and (political) change has informed the second part of the CONTAINED trilogy - Movement and Change.

www.qeh.ox.ac.uk

www.imi.ox.ac.uk

www.justiceinmotion.co.uk

